

Spread the word.

Meningococcal type B currently causes most cases of meningococcal disease in Canada, including in teens.

Is your teen protected against meningococcal type B (MenB)?

Routine vaccines usually given in childhood protect against meningococcal disease types A, C, Y, and W, but not type B.

Talk to your healthcare professional about getting your teen immunized for MenB.